The Women's Leadership Council (WLC) was created in 2006 and is an affiliate of United Way Worldwide National Women's Leadership Council. The WLC is comprised of successful women who donate time and resources to help ensure young women get the support they need to achieve academic success. There are currently 211 members who last year invested more than $460,000 to benefit the organization and spent more than 500 hours volunteering in classrooms and serving as mentors and tutors.

A student panel of young women will also offer their perspective on the benefits of post-secondary education. Many of these women are first generation high school graduates and first generation college students. In addition, Mary Kay Griffin will be honored as this year's WLC Member of the Year.
